A REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER.—The following may not be the 'newest,' but is good: A Revolutionary soldier was running for Congress, and his opponent was a young man who had 'never been to the wars,' and it was the custom of old Revolutionary to tell of the hardships he had endured. He said:

'Fellow-citizens—I have fought and bled for my country. I helped to whip the British and the Indians. I have slept on the field of battle with no other covering than the canopy of heaven. I have walked on the frozen ground till every footstep was marked with blood.'

Just about this time one of the sovereigns, who had become greatly interested in his tale of sufferings, walked up in front of the speaker, wiped the tears from his eyes with the extremity of his coat-tail, and interrupted him with:

'Did you say you fout the British and Injuns?'

'Yes, sir.'

'Did you say you slept on the ground while serving your country, without any kiver?'

'I did.'

'Did you say your feet kivered the ground you walked over with blood?'

'Yes,' replied the speaker exultingly.

'Well, then,' said the tearful sovereign, as he gave a sigh of emotion, 'guess I'll vote for t'other fellow, for I'll be blamed if you ain't done enough for your country.'—Ex.

What a Radical paper says:

Read the following from the Newbern Republic-Courier.

SHALL THE REPUBLICAN PARTY CEASE?

Upon reading the provisions of the Civil Rights bill, this question will impress itself upon the mind of every honorable and fair-minded man in Newbern, and in North Carolina—and in our whole country, who understands the true and real condition of affairs, and feels an honest interest in the welfare of our government and the people both white and colored.

In the first place, we claim there is no real honest necessity for such law.

In the second place, sensible negroes do not desire such a law and they will not intrude themselves upon the company or society of white people, unless urged to do so by mean white men.

Thirdly; Those persons who have been urging the passage of such a law, are either ignorant of the necessities of its provisions, thoughtless in their action, or dishonest in their motives.

Fourthly; Such a law if passed will inaugurate a war of strife between the races.

Fifthly; It will destroy the peace and harmony of millions of people, without doing any permanent good to any living soul on earth.

Sixthly; We challenge those persons in Congress that voted for the bill to acknowledge their willingness to live up to the requirements and provisions of the bill, upon all occasions.

Seventhly; The final passage of such a bill will be the sure political death of the great Republican party.

Eighthly; According to the provisions of the bill, a lousy, filthy white man, or a common prostitute of the lowest character can demand the same table, rooms and bed at the 'St. Nicholas' Hotel in New-York as would be assigned to the president of Yale College if visiting that city in company with his wife, and upon the refusal to furnish the required accommodation, the gentlemanly proprietor of the 'St Nicholas' must

'COME DOWN'

to the tune of $500,—for what? Not to the government for disobeying the law; but to any school or charitable institution—but to some vile wretch or harlot. The very fact that the penalty is to be paid to the plaintiff is sufficient proof that scoundrels of all will try to take advantage of it.

In conclusion, we must say to our colored friends if you value your present rights and privileges; if you are satisfied with the enjoyment of the same rights to the ballot box, the jury list and the same tax list, that is now enjoyed by both white and colored people; if you are satisfied with the same privilege of pursuing and earning an honest living and according to the dictates of your own consciences, then, we say to you one and all, ask Congress to let well enough alone, otherwise their action may eventually take from you the free rights and privileges you now enjoy.

CHINESE TRUST.

In all places in China you may see a string of coolies rushing through the streets carrying loads of money. There is not a policeman to be seen, except occasionally at the gates or in time of trouble. You may see a shroff with a lot of dollars in a flat tray, examining them intently as they pass, click, over his thumb; sometimes a posse of idlers, consisting of chair-bearers, coolies, cooks and servants, all looking on. There does not seem to be even the suspicion that any one might attempt to kick the tray over and bolt with what he could get in the scramble. Why, even in that nest of iniquity, Hong Kong, you may see at the most comfortable of building, the Oriental bank, a lot of Chinamen counting and examining, perhaps, thousands of dollars that are being paid to them, and some of the greatest scoundrels unhanged passing constantly; perhaps they think the men in the streets would most likely be honest enough to catch them, but it is rather doubtful if they dare. Money and valuables are exposed in a way that would never be dreamed of in England; and the similarity of dress, the narrowness and crowded state of the streets in China, all would aid in the escape of a robber.

A 'wad' or 'wad' is a wager, a bet, a pledge, or plight. Therefore, in the Episcopal marriage service, the bridegroom says 'and thereto I plight thee my troth.' Wedding means pledging. But the lady says 'and thereto I give thee my troth,' a delicate concession that the bride's word is as good as her bond, and—perhaps a great deal better than the bridegroom's pledge.

WHEAT IN VIRGINIA.—From all that it can learn the Alexandria Gazette infers that the growing crop of wheat in the State is more promising than it has been at any time for years past.

Advice to journalists: Ask the first lawyer you see the meaning of the phrase 'consummation of a marriage.'

EXTRAORDINARY FEATS CAUSED BY DISEASE.

The field of pathology, says Dr. Brown-Sequard, is indeed very rich in cases in which all sorts of movements resembling voluntary movements are made by patients who, however, are not trying to perform those movements. There is one case especially of a young lady in Paris who was attacked with ecstacies every Sunday, and who performed a feat the thousandth part of which not one among you could perform unless you were diseased like her. Every Sunday at 10 o'clock the young lady ascended a bed, and putting her back on the top of the edge or border of the bed, took an attitude of prayer and began to address prayers to the Virgin Mary. She continued in that attitude, fixed like a statue, except that her chest continued to move and her heart beat, and the lips were giving utterance to sound. All the other parts of the body were absolutely motionless. This was a feat that you could not perform on level ground. Standing rigidly on tip-toe, even without shoes, is an utter impossibility, beyond a short time. I ventured to try my own power on the bed, and fell immediately. I was not ready to try it again, as there was no doubt that the thing was impossible. I had been called by the agent of police to see whether there was disease there, or whether it was a false pretense to make money, as the family of the girl was poor, and many came and paid for the privilege of witnessing her attitude in prayer. It was clear there was disease. I made an experiment which proved it.

There are other movements which are performed without the will. Some of these are very singular. Sometimes it is a movement forward, sometimes it is a movement backward as fast as possible; then movements sideways, or a movement like a horse in a circus or a single rotation executed on the same place on the feet. What may surprise many persons, there are two cases to my knowledge in which these rotary movements, instead of being performed as I just performed them, were performed with the head on the ground. The feet were against the wall, without which, of course, this action would be impossible. The patient turned with a rapidity that was wonderful. No person with will-power could have done it. The head spun around as is it were a top.

In another case I saw a most beautiful Irish girl, who had a blow on the head, and who had a rotary movement on that account. She knew well what was the matter with her, and had come to be able to prevent any bad effect of it. If she wanted to go in a contrary direction she turned herself in a direction almost at right angles to it, and the irregularity of her movement brought her to the right place. She knew the amount of her rotation, her deviation from a straight line, and calculated accordingly. So when she went along the street she executed a series of half-circles, and in that way succeeded in going forward. She was in perfect health otherwise. She could not help this. There was an irrepressible power pushing her so. Her will force could not overcome it.

The most singular of these rotary movements are those that the ear will produce. An injection of cold water in the ear will produce a very great change sometimes. In a curious book of a Frenchman of Alsace—he is a German now—there are, I dare say, more than three or four hundred of those strange cases of rotary movements or change of direction by something acting against the will. These diseases are particularly common in women, and a great many of the cases allied to hysteria; but they exist from an organic cause in man sometimes also.

A ROMANTIC COURTSHIP.—M. Rule, who has just died so suddenly, was married in a most romantic manner. A few years ago an artist of talent had painted his portrait and sent it to the exhibition. A young lady, an orphan, was passing through the rooms with her guardian, when she suddenly stopped before the picture, and having regarded it earnestly for a long time, said: 'I will never marry any one but the original of that portrait.' Her guardian laughed at her; but the girl was alike determined, intelligent and indulged. A search had to be undertaken for the M. Reule, whose likeness had turned a young head. He was discovered, and being informed in what a sovereign fashion a pretty maiden had decreed that she would be his wife, he considered himself extremely fortunate to the object of such a choice, and he was right, for he found a most generous heart united to numerous graces of mind.

PLOUGHING ORCHARDS.—In ploughing an orchard short singletrees should be used, and the trace chains and the ends of the singletrees should be wrapped with straw or hay ropes, lest by accident the trees should be barked. But a ploughman who persists in skinning the trees should be kept out of the orchard.

A SCRIPTURE lesson from Punch: Preceptor—'Now can any of you tell me anything remarkable in the life of Moses?' Boy—'Yes, sir. He was the only man who broke all the commandments at once!'

THE WREATHED SUBJECT.

A St. Louis Republican Tale of the Dissecting Table

In a narrow little street, full of nooks and angles, stands a quaint brick house, nooky, and full of angles, too. It has survived many years, and time has filled its crevices with mould, and green moss now and then is seen on its cornices or grows close on the walls.

It is old enough to have had a history, and people say it is the brooding haunt of memories that are better lost than kept alive. Be that as it may, it is the scene of a little incident in life, which was told to me, and I relate it here. Those connected with it have passed away, but others beside myself will recollect the doctor's story.

The old college near by was in the heyday of its fame before the war, and students from all parts of the state were in attendance. By some of these the old house we speak of was rented for dissecting purposes, and hither were brought the subjects they desired to practice on. A gloomy place it was, and with closed shutters and doors, excluding daylight, the heavy atmosphere seemed instinct with ghostly presences. Coming into the house from the keen air outside, a chill would strike to the heart, like the breath of a Texas norther. An inspiration of constraint, of fear and dread, was all about the place.

Imagine, then, my feelings, said the narrator, when, long after midnight, I crept cautiously into the old house alone. I had made arrangements to have a subject brought me for my next day's study. But a feverish unrest pursued me, and an inclination I could not resist carried me there long before any one else was stirring. I knew my commissaries had done their work long before, and in the silent figure on the table, and lined through the muslin draperies, I perceive that for which I came in search. My nerves were always strong, and I had a passion for science. I had no fear of the dead, and yet I trembled perceptibly as I stood that night beside the voiceless clay I had come to view.

What was it—fear? or that subtle sympathy which, despite all reasonable causes, at times pervades the heart and mind? I can't describe the sensation, but I felt as if I was approaching some event of controlling force and power on my life. But whatever the feeling was, I shook it off, and turning up the gas, approached the table. My hand shook a little as I exposed the face of the dead to view.

It was a young girl, apparently about seventeen years of age; it was a sad face, beautiful and calm, and a smile, like the shadow of holy memories, lingered on the lips. A garland of white flowers wreathed her brow like a bride. The golden floss of sunny hair that crowned the head, was stirred by a breath of air. I started and turned. It seemed to me on the unreasoning instant, that on that silent, viewless breath of air, life was returning to the inanimate frame.

What if it should be so! I came closer and looked eagerly into the face—a calm, still face, with yellow lashes veiling the palely-tinted under-lids, and a waxen bloom like a roseate shadow on cheek and lip; soon as I looked the features changed—a shadow swept the face—indistinct—such as sometimes a glint of sunlight flings on ice or steel.

It was life. I was certain of it now. Quick as thought I lifted the figure and carried it to a sofa in an adjoining room, and, disrobing the arm, stuck my lance deep into a vein. The blood came dark and clotted, a drop at a time, then swifter and in a ruddier stream. My brain was on fire, and my blood leaped like a courser in my veins; but my hand was steady, and my senses did not desert me. Through her set teeth I poured a draught of ammonia, and life began to flutter back into the passive frame; the mouth twitched; the cheek flushed and waned alternately; the eye-lids quivered and the blue eyes opened wide.

'I have been dreaming,' she murmured, wearily.

'Yes,' I replied; 'pleasant dreams, I trust.'

'Very pleasant—I thought of clouds and shadows tinged with rainbow-hues; and gentle murmuring streams, and gardens full of beams.'

'Take this and dream again,' I said; and almost as I spoke she sank back in sleep. And then the doctor relapsed into silence too.

'Well, doctor, what next?' I asked eagerly.

'Well, I call a carriage and took her to my boarding-house—had her made comfortable,' he replied, curtly. 'She wasn't dead then, after all?'

'No!'

'But she had been buried?' we asked.

'Yes, in a trance. That is all you need to know'—and the doctor ended his story.

'WHAT's that?' said a teacher, pointing to the letter X, to a little ragged urchin.

'Daddy's name.'

'No, my boy.'

'Yes, it is; I've seen him write it a good many times.'

THE WHIMS OF MACHINERY

There are some curiosities about machines which seem to be unaccountable. Every user of a sewing machine knows that from some unknown reason the machine which yesterday performed its work so well, so almost enthusiastically, to-day refuses to do more than half its task, and does that half in a surly, indifferent manner. So with many other machines. Even the steam engine is subject to these fits. Is there some occult bond of sympathy between the operator and his machine, by which the latter is influenced by the mental condition of the former; for it is certain that these differences cannot be atmospheric or other external influences?

It is perfectly well known to experienced engineers that if a dozen different locomotive engines were made at the same time, of the same power, for the same purpose, of like materials, in the same factory, each of these locomotive engines would come out with his own peculiar whims and ways, only ascertainable by experience. One engine will take a great meal of coal and water at once; another will not hear to such a thing, but insists on being coaxed by spadefuls and bucketfuls. One is disposed to start off when required at the top of his speed; another must have a little time to warm at his work and to get well into it. These peculiarities are so accurately mastered by skillful drivers that only particular men can persuade engines to do their best. It would seem as if some of these 'excellent monsters' declared on being brought from the stable: 'If it's Smith who is to drive, I won't go. If it's my friend Stokes, I am agreeable to anything.'

All locomotive engines are low spirited in damp and foggy weather. They have a great satisfaction in their work when the air is crisp and frosty. At such a time they are very cheerful and brisk, but they strongly object to haze and mists. These are points of character on which they are united. It is in their peculiarities and varieties of character that they are the most remarkable.

The railway company who should consign all their locomotives to one uniform standard of treatment without any allowance for varying shades of character and opinion would soon fall as much behindhand in the world as those greater governments are, and ever will be, who pursue the same course with the finer piece of work called man.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF RAIN

To understand the philosophy of this beautiful and often sublime phenomenon, so often witnessed and so very essential to the existence of plants and animals, a few facts derived from observation and a long train of experiments must be remembered: 1. Were the atmosphere here, everywhere and at all times, of a uniform temperature, we should never have rain, hail or snow. The water absorbed by it by evaporation, from the sea and the earth's surface, would descend in an imperceptible vapor, or cease to be absorbed by the air when it was once fully saturated.

2. The absorbing power of the atmosphere, and consequently its capacity to retain humidity, is apportionately greater in warm than in cold air. The air near the surface of the earth is warmer than it is in the regions of the clouds. The higher we ascend from the earth the colder do we find the atmosphere. Hence the perpetual snow on very high mountains in the hottest climate.

Now, when from continued evaporation the air is highly saturated with vapor, though it be invisible and the sky cloudless, if its temperature is suddenly reduced by cold currents descending from above, or rushing from a higher to a lower altitude, by the motion of a saturated air to a lower altitude, its capacity to retain moisture is diminished, clouds are formed, and rain is the result. It condenses, it cools, and like a sponge filled with water and compressed, pours out the water which its diminished capacity cannot hold.

A SELL, NOT A SALE.

Amiable shopkeepers deserve to be canonized. Here is an illustration of the trials to which they are constantly subjected. One midsummer day, when Bobus slept and the thermometer stood in the nineties, a lady entered a store not a thousand miles off, and inquired for parasols. The obliging proprietor spread out before her samples of a large and varied stock. 'Have you any of this shade, a size larger?' said the lady. 'This size larger was produced. 'I think, on the whole, I prefer the size smaller.' The size smaller was presented. 'Have you any of this size a still lighter shade of blue?' The required shade was brought out. 'Haven't you any of this kind with the crooked handle?' The shade with the crooked handle appeared. 'Have you any with the crooked handle not quite so heavy?' said the lady, and so continued her requests for every conceivable size, shade and weight possible in the line of parasols. After nearly an hour had been thus consumed, the fair shopper gathered up her handkerchief and gloves and moved for the door. 'Can't I sell you a parasol?' inquired the exhausted proprietor. 'O! dear, no,' replied the lady. 'I was merely inquiring the price. I am going into mourning myself, and have one for sale.'

Hillsborough Recorder.

WEDNESDAY.....JUNE 10, 1874.

FOR SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Col. Stephen D. Pool,
OF CRAVEN.

FOR CONGRESS

Capt. Joseph J. Davis.
OF FRANKLIN.

FOR JUDGE

Hon. JOHN KERR,
OF CASWELL.

FOR SOLICITOR

FRED. N. STRUDWICK,
OF ORANGE.

OUR NOMINEES.

We place at our mast head the names of those chosen by our Conventions to lead the Conservative party to victory at the approaching August election.

We have no regrets to express, we have none to feel at the result of the Convention at Raleigh. We accept Capt. Joseph J. Davis in the same spirit in which we went into the convention—with the full determination honestly to abide its decisions and carry out its purposes.

In all the names presented for consideration, there was none whose selection would not have graced the party who put him forward. It was the distinguished glory of the party that it had so many of such evenly balanced merit that a choice from among them became a matter of embarrassment. It is no wonder that each had his devoted friends and all their warm admirers, and that friends clung with such tenacious fidelity to original pledges and predilections.

Orange adhered to Mr. Turner to the last. Its delegation went into convention full of the spirit that animated the whole county; full of the determination to crown with one of the highest honors in the gift of a people, the services of him whose labors and whose sacrifices through years of contest with the party conspicuous for its bold defiance of the law and marked with every conceivable stain of dishonor, entitled him to this well earned recognition.

Orange yields and yields gracefully to the result. She remembers that others too cast their hopes upon the hazard of the same die. She remembers, that of all the gallant competitors for the prize, but one could bear it off.

Disappointed she is, no doubt. But unfaithful to her fame, NEVER. She could never have gone into the convention unless she meant to abide its results. She has no complaints to make that the friends of other disappointed aspirants could not prefer. She will not prefer charges of unfairness, or over zeal, or the successful use of those weapons of strategy which were ineffectual in her own hands.

The nomination of Captain Davis though unexpected, and surprising, will be as cordially supported here as elsewhere. He is a man of character so high, and of qualities so great that he will not fail, not only to remove all discontent when he comes before the people of Orange, but to arouse an enthusiasm hardly short of that which would have accompanied that of the nomition of the man of their own choice.

Our columns are so full of the proceedings of conventions &c., that we will defer until our next a notice of Capt. Davis to whom we would do injustice by compressing it in the small space that is left us.

We speak of Mr. Kerr and Mr. Strudwick elsewhere.

☞ Henry Rochefort, the inveterate foe of the Emperor Napoleon, who did as much as the Prussians to unthrone him, who became prominent in the horrible Communist atrocities, who was tried, convicted, sentenced to death, but finally banished to New Caledonia, a desolate group in the South Pacific, and who escaped from the Island by swimming off to a passing English Ship, has finally reached this country, and was lately at Niagara, waiting to get to Europe. His vows of vengeance against McMahon are bitter indeed, and if his acts are as daring as his words, the President of the French Republic may trouble for his power.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Gen. Bristow of Kentucky has been made Secretary of the Treasury, in place of Richardson resigned. The latter financially has cut so ridiculous a figure in financial eyes, that no successor has anything to fear by being brought into comparison. And it is an office in which every individual in the country is personally interested, since it is clear that it is only through wide, clear, bold and honest financial measures that the country can ever hope a release from its monetary troubles.

Gen. Bristow is thought by those who know him, to have these qualities, and such he expected from him.

4TH DISTRICT CONVENTION.

This body, one of the largest of the kind ever assembled in the State, met at Raleigh on the 2nd inst. for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Congress. The session was held in Metropolitan Hall, and in its decorum, its self respect, its intellectual ability, and specially, in the harmony of its proceedings, must have mantled with the blush of shame—if such an emotion were possible—the faces of those who had contributed only a few days before, on a somewhat similar occasion, to make the same Hall a very Pandemonium.

We have not the space for the minute details of the convention. It was permanently organized by the selection of Mr. W. H. Avera of Johnson as permanent chairman.

The mode of voting for the gentlemen to be put in nomination was determined to be by giving each county one vote for every hundred democratic votes as determined by the contest between Merrimon and Caldwell, and one vote in addition for every fractional over fifty. This mode was adopted by a vote of 9 to 8—the counties voting according to representation in the lower branch of the Legislature.

Nominations being then in order, Mr. Smarborough of Johnson nominated Mr. Claude B. Sanders of Johnson.

Mr. Connady of Granville nominated Mr. Jas. S. Amis of Granville.

Mr. C. E. Parish nominated Hon. Josiah Turner jr. of Orange.

Capt. Denson nominated Hon. John Manning of Chatham.

After a recess of ten minutes a ballot was taken with the following result:

First ballot: Cox 9; Manning 18; Davis 28; Amis 20; Sanders 15; Turner 45.

67 was necessary for a majority, and there was no election.

Second ballot: Manning 18; Davis 28; Amis 20; Turner 46; Cox 21.

Third ballot; Manning 18, Davis 15; Amis 20; Cox 35; Turner 45.

Fourth ballot: The same.

Fifth ballot: Cox 37; Manning 18; Davis 15; Turner 53.

On this ballot Granville changed its vote giving 12 for Cox and 8 for Turner.

The 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th ballots were exactly the same. On the 10th Johnson gave one more vote for Mr. Turner.

A recess of half an hour was taken, and the balloting was again renewed, the 11th, 12th and 13th being exactly the same as the 10th.

On the 14th, Mr. Bunn of Granville nominated John W. Graham of Orange, and the vote on this ballot stood: Turner 55; Graham 13; Cox 88; Davis 15; Manning 17.

When the 15th ballot was called, Granville, Chatham and Wake withdrew for consultation. Chatham on its return voted Cox 8; Davis 8; Turner 2. Granville voted Davis 15, Turner 5. Nash then voted 13 for Davis, and Johnson 12 for Davis and 3 for Turner. Chatham then changed its vote and cast 18 for Davis, and Granville 20 for Davis. Wake having returned voted Turner 24, Davis 9. Johnson then made its vote unanimous for Davis, and Orange did the same.

The vote was then 109 for Davis 24 for Turner, necessary to a choice 67, and then Col. Huss of Wake came forward, before the result was announced, and moved to make the nomination unanimous, which was done amidst great enthusiasm.

A committee was then appointed to wait upon Mr. Davis, and announce to him his nomination, with a request to appear before the Convention.

Mr. Davis appeared, and in handsome terms acknowledged the compliment.

Mr. Manning and Gen. Cox were also called for and most gracefully and cordially congratulated their competitor upon his good fortune, and the convention upon the wisdom of its choice, earnestly and heartily pledging themselves by word and deed to do everything to advocate the success of this champion of the cause.

We were compelled to leave the convention before the conclusion of the speech of Gen. Cox to take the train for Graham. Consequently we did not hear the speech of Mr. Turner who responded to the call made on him, nor have we seen any report of the same.

☞ The Asheville Expositor of the 27th ult., says that Bald Mountain is again becoming troublesome. Shocks as severe as any previously felt startled the country for ten miles around. Lights too were seen of extraordinary brilliancy on the sides of the mountain. If the supply of gas hold out, Old Baldy ought to 'draw' well during the summer, while the world is abroad for sigh, seing.

☞ The formidable Tom Scott has been elected President of the Pennsylvania Rail Road in place of Edgar Thompson, lately dead. Tom was better known than his master, and is held responsible for all the bold and dirty work of that monster corporation.

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

The proceedings of this convention found elsewhere in this paper will be read with interest and its results accepted with something more than pleasure. The unbounded enthusiasm of the Convention at the nomination of JOHN KERR, will, we feel sure, find a reflex in the heart of every conservative in the district. It was a result without alloy, almost, for the absence of all competition in the convention left no room for heart-burnings, to place for the unpleasant memories of unsatisfied aspirations.

The Convention did but seem to do the bidding of the whole people of the whole district: to cast the ermine upon the shoulders of one who had before worn it gracefully and spotlessly; to call to the administration of justice one whose legal lore had been stored up when law was a science and not a trade: to confer honor upon him who honored his profession, who knew its responsibilities and who fulfilled its duties: and to bestow the crowning reward of a people's gratitude upon one who had suffered martyrdom in the peoples cause. The people of Alamance and the people of Caswell remembered the time when that same John Kerr, battling for them in defence of civil liberty fell under the tyrants ban, and became the tenant of a felons cell. The other counties too, whose liberties were assailed and whose rights were trampled upon, vied with Alamance and Caswell in marking their reprobation of his enemies.

It was a spectacle, and an honor of unusual significance, that the convention did not content itself with the customary notification to the nominee of his selection to the nomination through the hands of a committee. The convention, and it was a large one, waited upon him in a body, and conducted him to the Court House, where he signified his acceptance in such words and in such ardent thoughts as are so native to the lips and the brain of John Kerr.

It was a spectacle which gave so strong a forecast of the glorious triumph in store for him, that the shadow of a doubt dare not obtrude its baleful uncertainty.

We consider the nomination of F. N. Strudwick as the candidate for the Solicitorship, as no less happy and appropriate. He too is endowed with brilliant gifts. He too has battled for popular right, and he too has been the victim of revengeful persecution. Let the people of the district now show by their hearty response to these nominations, that they bear in mind the memory of those who took up their cause, and who for that cause endured ignominy and suffering.

We said that the result of the deliberations of the convention was without alloy, almost. The exception was in the reference to the malignant slanders circulated against one who was a worthy, and might have proved a formidable, competitor, and which worked so forcibly upon the sensitive and honorable nature of JOHN H. DILLARD as to influence his withdrawal from the contest. If those who know Mr. Dillard did not need the touching and eloquent vindication of the gallant Gilmer—and we know there was not one in the house who did credit the slander—to disperse the calumny, yet it was a proud moment for the friends of Mr. Dillard, who had come prepared to advocate his claims, and which were only foregone through his own nobility of soul, to find his vindication so full, and his name so much more exalted, by this opportunity for the display of his magnanimity. The slander was refuted, but the shaft had struck its quarry, and Mr. Dillard's name was withdrawn at his own urgent solicitation, not that he feared the conflict, but because he was stung that malignity should have found an ear among a people he had loved and defended with all his zeal and ability.

The convention adjourned after a session of the utmost harmony, and in the highest confidence of success.

NOMINATIONS.

In five of the Districts Conventions have been held, and nominations have been made by the conservative party.

In the First District: Maj. Jesse J. Yeates of Hertford is nominated.

In the Third: Hon. A. M. Waddell of New Hanover.

In the Fourth: Capt. Joseph J. Davis of Franklin.

In the Fifth: Gen. A. M. Scales of Rockingham.

In the Sixth; Hon. Thomas S. Ashe of Anson.

In the Eighth: Gen. Robert E. Vance of Buncombe.

It is gratifying in the extreme to find an array of names so weighty, and so spotless. It is by the infusion of just such an element into Congress, that that corrupt body is to be purified, and the country purged from its disgrace.

HEAR MR. TURNER ON THE NOMINATION.

CAPT. JO DAVIS.

We now propose to close the door, and shut off all controversy about the convention and its action. We admit Mr. Harrison's reply to Mr. Woodson, and desire that no further discussion be carried on between the friends of Captain Davis.

A valued friend said on the street, he would not vote for Capt. Davis; we told him if he did not, we would have his head kicked, buy a new card, and place it in the hands of Col. Russ, to comb out the kinks. Russ who stood near, said, he would do the carding, until he cried for Davis.

We repeat, if we can vote for Capt. Davis, we are sure our friends can. We have but little margin to play upon, and we must show an undivided front. All we ask, is to lead in the fight for Davis. We have known him long and well, and the State has no truer man.—Sentinel

To Correspondents.

The communication signed "Flat River" is received. While we sympathize to some extent, in the views of our correspondent, and attach the weight he does to the situation, we do not think any good will result from the farther agitation of the subject. Unsatisfactory as may be the result to many, it must be considered as settled. It cannot be re-opened without disaster.

We trust therefore that our correspondent will agree with us in the propriety of withholding his communication for the present.

Our Schools.

The summer vacations of our male schools have all commenced and the pupils are now happy at home. We call attention to each of their Advertisements which deserve the serious attention of parents and guardians. We have spoken so often of the merits of these schools, and that in detail, that we will not repeat former eulogiums. We will reiterate however our claim for the superior excellence of all of them each of which has a special merit peculiar to itself, and therefore commending itself to different circumstances and situations.

Alamance County Convention.

We were promised an account of the convention which met in Graham on Saturday to select Candidates for the Legislature, County officers &c. Up to the time of going to press, we have not received them, which we very much regret.

We would say to correspondents generally that all communications must be sent in by Monday, as we always go to press on Tuesday morning as soon as possible

JUDICIAL CONVENTION.

The Convention of the Judicial District comprising the counties of Alamance, Chatham, Guilford, Orange, Person, Randolph and Rockingham assembled in the Court House at Graham on the 3rd day of June.

The Convention was called to order by Mr. G. W. Bason, and on his motion Col. George Williamson of Caswell was called to the chair. J. D. Cameron of the Hillsboro Recorder, C. N. B. Evans of the Milton Chronicle, and J. R. Webster of the Reidsville Record, were requested to act as Secretaries.

The counties were called and all were found to be represented.

On motion of M. Q. Waddell of Chatham, the delegates from each county were requested to hand in to the secretaries the names of the delegates from each county. Some of the delegations then retired for consultation, and during their absence, the convention was addressed by M. Q. Waddell.

Mr. Withers of Caswell then moved that the Convention then proceed to the nomination of Judge and Solicitor for the 7th Judicial District, and further moved that on the vote on such nomination, each county be entitled to cast the same number of votes as it has members in the lower branch of the Legislature.

Mr. S. Scott of Alamance moved as a substitute, that the election be based upon the popular Democratic vote of each county as determined in the contest between Merrimon and Caldwell in the last gubernatorial election.

The vote on the resolution and substitute was determined to be taken by the representation in the lower branch of the Legislature.

The substitute proposed by Mr. Scott was lost by a vote of yeas 4, nays 10.

On the original resolution offered by Mr. Withers, the vote was yeas 12, nay 2.

The nominations for Judge were then in order. Mr. Gilmer of Guilford rose and withdrew from the consideration of the Convention, the name of Mr. John H. Dillard of Guilford.

Mr. London of Chatham put in nomination the name of Hon. John Kerr of Caswell.

On motion of Mr. Parrish, the nomination of Mr. Kerr was made by acclamation, and he was declared by the chairman to be the nominee of the Convention.

The nomination of Solicitor being in order Mr. Irvine of Rockingham nominated Mr. John H. Staples of Guilford.

Mr. Rencher of Chatham nominated Mr. F. N. Strudwick of Orange.

Mr. Ihrie of Chatham nominated Mr. Parker of Alamance.

Mr. Holman of Person nominated Mr. H. T. Jordan of Person.

Mr. S. H. Webb nominated Mr. James A. Graham of Alamance.

The Convention then proceeded to a vote.

On the 1st ballot Mr. Staples received 6 votes, Mr. Strudwick 5 votes, Mr. Jordan 1 vote, Mr Parker 2 votes, and there was no election, and the Convention took a recess of five minutes.

On the 2nd ballot, Mr. Staples received 6 votes, Mr. Strudwick 7 votes Mr. Parker 1 vote, and there was no election.

On the 3rd ballot Mr. Staples received 6 votes, and Mr. Strudwick 8 votes, and the Chairman announced that Mr. Strudwick was duly elected, and on motion of Mr. Waddell, the nomination was made unanimous.

It was then moved that the Convention in a body proceed to wait upon Mr. Kerr at his rooms and inform him of his nomination,

After a recess of an hour, the Convention waited upon Mr. Kerr and conducted him to the place of session, when Mr. Kerr accepted the nomination in appropriate terms.

Mr. Strudwick also accepted the nomination for the Solicitorship.

On motion of Mr. S. H. Webb, the former Executive Committee for the District was continued.

On motion of Mr. A. W. Graham of Orange, it was resolved that the Secretaries of this Convention be requested to publish the proceedings thereof in their respective newspapers, and that the Conservative papers of this Judicial district and those of the city of Raleigh be requested to copy the same.

Their being no farther business before the Convention, it adjourend sine die.

A Liverpool Order.

H. P. Jones & co the well known manufacturers of the celebrated Tar Heel and Occonneeche smoking tobacco received last week an order from a Liverpool house for two thousand pounds of their tobacco. The letter accompanying the order bore most flattering testimony to the high character of the article which had already found its way into that market. We have reason to believe that it is but the begining of a permanent business and an entering wedge into the British kingdom for a product of which Hillsboro has good reason to be proud.

THE AMERICAN FARMER for June is at hand, well filled with a great variety of useful and attractive matter. This old journal has something for every taste, and no branch of farm or garden work but is treated in its pages, thus making it a valuable hand-book for every farmer and horticulturist. All can examine it who wish to do so, as the publishers will send specimen copies free to all who send for them.

Orphan Asylum.

We have received the report for the month of May of the monthly contributions from all sources to this Charity. We have not room for the publication of the detailed statement, but wish to call attention to the total inadequacy of the supplies to the object aimed at. The cash contributions amount to the munificent sum of one hundred and eighty dollars and fifty five cents, besides a proportionate contribution in kind, and this for the maintenance of one hundred and twenty five destitute children, dependent almost solely upon this precarious mode of support!

In urging this subject upon the Legislature last winter, and in bringing it to the consideration of the people, we dwelt upon this very point—the unreliability of private charity, and the certain subsidence of any suddenly awakened enthusiasm. The springs of sympathy, like those of all other emotions, soon lose their elasticity by use, and fail to respond to appeal. The ear wearies and the heart becomes callous to the constant din of want and suffering.

Therefore, it was that we advocated a permanent appropriation by the Legislature.

That failed, and what we predicted has come to pass. Privation, almost famine, press hard upon one hundred and twenty five hapless and helpless beings, and the public ear is almost deaf, and the public heart almost steeled against their piteous cry for help.

Shall this cry not be heeded? Let it be remembered that christian and philanthropic zeal have rescued these children from suffering, from degradation, from vice, and from ignorance; that some of them have been snatched from the lowest depth of infamy—that of servitude to a former servile race—that the aim of this zeal was to educate them, to christianize them, to make good citizens of them.

Now that they are thus gathered up, enclosed in the walls of the institution, penned up as it were, cut off from all other help, shall they be starved out? Shall they be allowed to suffer or to perish?

Yet such seems to be the fate before them unless the public rise to the emergency. The aid of the State is denied. Private charity is the sole resource left. Will it not stir itself? Will it not be kept alive at least till another Legislature is appealed to?

Will it suffer these orphans to suffer, to starve, or to perish, or, what is nearly as deplorable, to be dispersed abroad again, and remanded to their original degradation?

Humanity forbids it, Christianity forbids it. The best interests of society forbid it. The wisest dictates of statesmanship forbid it.

Then let the friends of the orphan and of the Orphan Asylum arouse themselves and save themselves, the State, and humanity from the reproach, which longer indifference will entail upon them.

The Federal Court

Has been in session at Raleigh during the past week, engaged mainly on the criminal docket. This week Chief Justice Waite took his seat in the Court. Much important matter in which the State credit and the States interest in her rail-roads are involved comes up for adjudication, among them the Swazey suit to sell the States stock in the N. C. R. R. to pay the interest due and unpaid on the bonds issued as the State subscription to the work.

It is a serious case, and a possible crisis in the Internal Improvement system of the State, If the application is granted all control of the road passes away from the State, and it may be certainly assumed that the proceeds of sale will diminish the debt but little.

ASIATIC CHOLERA IN CHINA.

Almost Every Case Cured with PAIN-KILLER.

Dear Sir: During a residence of some ten years in Siam China, as a missionary, I found your Pain-Killer a most valuable remedy for that fearful scourge the Cholera.

In administering the medicine I found it most effectual to give a teaspoonful of Pain-Killer in a gill of hot water sweetened with sugar; then, after about fifteen minutes, begin to give about a tablespoonful of the same mixture every few minutes [illegible] was obtained. Apply hot applications to the extremities. Bathe the stomach with the Pain-Killer, clear, and rub the limbs briskly. Of those who had the Cholera, and took the medicine faithfully, in the way stated above, eight out of ten recovered.

Rev. R. TELFORD, Missionary to China.

Dear Sirs: During a long residence in China I have used your valuable Pain Killer, both in my own family and among the Chinese, and have found it a most excellent medicine. In the Summers of 1862 and '63, while residing in Shanghai, I found it an almost certain cure for cholera, if used in time. Indeed, using it in a great many instances, I do not remember failing in a single case. For three years I have been residing in this place, more than fifty miles from a physician and have been obliged often to fall upon my own resources in cases of sickness. The Chinese come to us in great numbers for medicine and advice. Though without medical knowledge ourselves, the few simple remedies we can command are so much in advance even of their physicians, that we have almost daily applications. We allow them to come, because it brings us in contact with them and opens a door of usefulness. In diarrhœa, cholic, vomiting, cholera, coughs, etc., your Pain-Killer has been my chief medicine.

Yours very truly,

Rev. T. P. CRAWFORD, Tungchow, China.

Those using Pain-Killer should strictly observe the following directions:

At the commencement of the disease, take a teaspoonful of Pain-Killer, in sugar and water, and then bathe freely across the stomach and bowels with the Pain-Killer clear. Should the diarrhœa and cramp continue, repeat the dose every fifteen minutes. In this way the dreadful scourge may be checked and the patient relieved in the course of a few hours.

N. B.—Be sure and get the genuine article; and it is recommended by those who have used the Pain-Killer for the cholera, that in extreme cases the patient take two (or more) teaspoonfuls instead of one.

Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

DR. RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES, THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other Fluids and juices of the system the Elements of Life, for it repairs the waste of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Cancerous humor, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Scales in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous discharges from the Ears and the various forms of Skin diseases, Erysipelas, Pever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Scrofula, Sores of Species, all these and the like principles, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days use will prove to any person being under either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the waste and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material, receiving from Radway's and this SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT such power as is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of waste, its progress will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself or herself better, sufferings, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT expel all known corrupting agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases, but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney & Bladder Complaints,

Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick-dust deposits, or the water burns, smarts, or is loaded with substances like the white of an egg, or thread-like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the Loins.

PURELY VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL — CALIFORNIA

DR. WALKER'S

EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c.
